

Want to do business in North America and the United Kingdom?

Want to learn more about the markets in the US and the UK?

Want to promote your product or services to a wider audience?

Then come to Edinburgh from the 16th to 18th of May 2012 and join other delegates at the Annual British American Business Council (BABC) Transatlantic Conference.

The Conference has in recent years been held in San Francisco, London and Washington DC.

Hosted by the Scottish North American Business Council (SNABC), this conference will provide executives from across the UK and North America with a unique opportunity to promote their businesses and to learn more about these vital markets.

The event will provide you with an opportunity to network and connect with leaders from the world of finance, science, manufacturing, energy, security and government.

For further details about the conference including the programme, sponsorship opportunities, exhibition places, delegate fees and for further details about membership of the SNABC please contact Allan Hogarth the Executive Director of the SNABC on:
